Taking Domestic Violence

Out of the Closet

Wednesday, October 15, 2008

5:30pm-8pm

Trinity Episcopal Church Chapel - 371 Delaware Avenue, Buffalo NY

Join us for this unique, first-ever event in Western New York!

An evening of active collaboration and vibrant conversation among LGBTQ identifying individuals, LGBTQ allies, friends, supporters, colleagues, family members, LGBTQ-friendly venue/establishment staff, and community leaders. The discussion will focus on domestic violence within the LGBTQ community throughout Western New York.

Avy Skolnik, Coordinator for Statewide and National Programs at the New York City Anti-Violence Project (NYCAVP), will be the moderator for this special event. Avy is a nationally recognized speaker. He facilitates the National Coalition of Anti-Violence Programs, a nation-wide network of grassroots organizations dedicated to ending violence in all its forms against the LGBTQ population and coordinates the New York State LGBTQ Domestic Violence Network. Avy provides training and assistance to community groups, schools, hospitals, clinics, and law enforcement on LGBTQ violence-related issues including intimate partner violence, sexual assault, and bias-motivated violence.

This event is FREE! Light refreshments will be provided.
